INTRODUCTION

This plant is located approximately 10 nautical miles northwest of Ping-shan. The coordinates in the Basic Encyclopedia as shown in the Data Block are incorrect. The correct geographic and UTM coordinates are 38-18-55N 113-59-50E and 49SGN617432 respectively.

BASIC DESCRIPTION

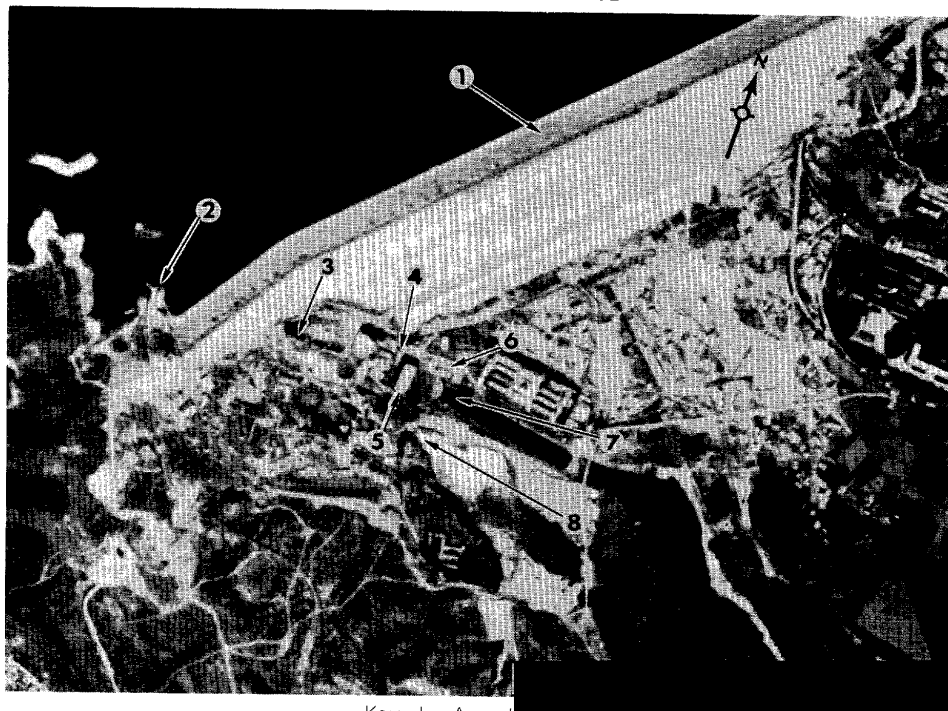

Water from the water intake passes through a buried conduit to the probable water control building where it is either diverted to the powerhouse or the bypass. Due to the small scale of the photography and the earth scarring, security measures could not be identified.

Water turbulence was not observed in the tailrace on any of the referenced imagery. Furthermore, turbulence was seen only once, in [REDACTED] at the bypass discharge channel.

This plant is complete and there has been no major construction since [REDACTED] the date of the latest photography utilized in the referenced report.
